"Something doing every minute" is the slogan of the Fourth of July committee. The doings will start at sunrise, July 4, 1907, and will end—!

An epidemic of early marriages is reported in Graham county. Much business for the probate judge and much prospective business for the lawyers.

Unlike preceding summers, the weather now is ideal in Globe and still people rush off to the coast, where the sun has gone on a strike and Jupiter Pluvius reigns daily.

The Schmitz trial has been transferred from the synagogue to a Salvation Army hall. This, however, will not affect the defendant. He is as much at home in one as the other.

The Fourth of July celebration for Globe will be the biggest and best ever held in the territory. We never start anything here unless we can go through with it. Boost for the big day.

Gaylord Wilshire, editor of Wilshire's, a socialist magazine, lives in apartments in a New York hotel which cost him $500 a month. The professional socialist has a fairly good time of it.

Senator Ben Tillman was in Gila county last Wednesday. The fiery South Carolinian paid a visit to Roosevelt, ostensibly to see the big government dam, but we believe that the visit was for the purpose of seeing what kind of a place it is that was named after his friend, the president.

A Phoenix paper has brought some local color into the Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone case in publishing a story to the effect that Moyer was implicated in an attempt to blow up some mining men at Congress in 1902. As all of the alleged intended victims are living, the attempt probably failed.

Senator Tillman arrived in Phoenix when the weather was warm if not warmer. He is reported to have exclaimed: "Just why anybody will settle down and live on the brink of hell is more than I can understand."—Prescott Courier.

We believe that municipal jealousy inspired the Courier. While Tillman may have thought it, he has too much of the spirit of southern hospitality to say it. He would have waited until he left Phoenix.

They have a great way of doing things down in Cochise county. About a year and a half ago there was an election to pass upon a sewer bond issue by the city of Bisbee. It was defeated. A short time later, preceded by a campaign of education, the bonds passed by an overwhelming majority. Last week in Douglas the voters turned down the new city charter by a large vote, despite the apparent inadequacy of the present charter, which is the same under which Globe was incorporated. They will probably have another election in Douglas after a few months and the charter will be adopted. The city officials probably knew all about the new charter, but the people at large knew practically nothing of its good features.

A LAWYER ON LEGAL ETHICS
Some time ago Governor Hughes of New York raised a standard for lawyers that might be considered rather high for every-day humanity. He declared that no case should be taken against the public interest. But if that be counsel of perfection, the article of Frederick Trevor Hill, a New York lawyer and author of note, in the current Putnam's on legal trickery and the disrepute into which the profession is falling, certainly demands nothing heroic of the average lawyer, says the Chicago Record-Herald. It only asks him to refrain from twisting and torturing the law in the interest of clients who do not deserve success. It asks him to be decently scrupulous and honest.

Mr. Hill does not hesitate to say that "lawyers are coming to be looked upon by fair and broad-minded men as defecators of the law and mockers of its majesty." He attributes this to the fact that the typical modern lawyer is given to quibbling, trickery and technicality, and cares nothing about justice, the merits of the case or the real issues. He thinks it altogether proper to confuse the court and get "reversible error" into the record by hook or crook. He prepares snares and pitfalls for the judge, and rejoices when the efforts are successful. He stretches statutes and solemnly argues for interpretations that he knows to be preposterous. He defeats honest claims, regardless of all moral considerations, so long as some loophole for the rascally client can be discovered. He deceives legislators into putting jokers into bills and then goes into court to invalidate the acts fashioned by himself with an air of innocence and good faith. He takes advantage of the failure of a plaintiff to observe the most technical and obscure rules of practice. He will "get off" criminals and turn them loose in the community on the most trivial and transparent pretexts. And so on, to the end of the indictment.

Mr. Hill gives a number of striking illustrations, especially from criminal practice, to illustrate his charges. For example, a burglar who had robbed a railway station and killed a constable was once saved from conviction on a charge of murder in the first degree by the point that the statute in regard to burglary was so worded as not to cover railway stations, and that the constable had been guilty of trying to make an illegal arrest in interfering with the burglar.

Only lawyers can so well expose legal chicanery and artful dodging, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Hill's example will be widely followed by other conscientious members of the profession. As he says, lawyers should see themselves as others see them.

SANE VIEW OF INDIAN QUESTION

Commissioner of Indian Affairs Leupp
Says Paternalism Has Pauperized the Indians

Called to San Francisco suddenly from San Francisco, where he attended the closing of the Phoenix Indian school, Hon. Francis Leupp, United States commissioner of Indian affairs, passed through Yuma yesterday morning on No. 43, says the Yuma Sun.

For twenty years Mr. Leupp has been connected with Indian affairs. In speaking of his work and the Indian in general, he said: "It is the plan of the government to close all its business with the Indians and to permit them to forever stand on their own responsibility, but we cannot do this with haste. It is a work of years. Very largely our paternalism has pauperized the Indian. This is true, too, of the schools. A majority of Indian schools have outlived their largest uses and they must go out of existence sooner or later. To send the Indian east to be educated is a plan held in less favor each year. Indians are just like other people. Helped too much, they will not help themselves."

Mr. Leupp favors the day school plan for the Indian: a school board, and no reservation, no board furnished, and no clothing or other aid except in cases where the parents are extremely poor. In other words he desires and will work to the end that the government treat the Indian exactly as the white, except, of course, maintaining a few of the larger schools. Give the Indian an ordinary school education and let him seek the rest for himself. He thought they might in time be educated with the whites, in the same schools, though in some places this has raised some objections. He has already secured a law in congress allowing whites to be educated at Indian schools by paying a small tuition.

Regarding the belief that little good was done by educating the Indian since the larger per cent go back to the reservation, he thought that while the good was not always visible, it took a mighty strong force of character in an Indian to keep him from sinking back into old ways, and moral lassitude, yet the effect was very noticeable in the children of children who had been educated. The first and most noticeable difference was that the children of educated Indians did not fear the white teachers and were not so stolid and uncommunicative. Then again they advanced more rapidly, as if the inclination to learning had been transmitted from generation to generation.

SHANNON OUTPUT SHOWS INCREASE

Production of 720 Tons of Copper During May and New Furnace Is Being Added—Arizona Copper Output 1,380 Tons of Copper—Improvements Made.

The output for the month of May amounted to 720 tons of Bessemer copper, an increase over last month. As predicted in the Era last month the Shannon can be figured safely at 700 tons per month for an average throughout the year, and when new plans are carried out, it will be considerably increased over present figures. The foundation for a new furnace is completed and the material is on the ground. Work will be commenced this week and the furnace will be ready for business not later than July 15, and possibly sooner. Now that the new high line railroad is assured together with many improvements which will be made during the present year, there is every reason why stock at present price should bring profitable returns on the investment. Copper magnates who know predict that the Shannon is one of the best stocks on the market. There are now about 5,000 stockholders in the Shannon, which gives it a pretty safe foundation on which to stand. It is wonderful the way Shannon has stood up, while other stocks have recently gone to pieces.

A. C. Output
The output of the Arizona Copper company for the month of May was 1,380 tons of Bessemer copper, a slight increase over the production of April. The company has just put into operation one of the finest gas plants in the southwest and has also just completed a large reservoir above town which will supply the concentrator and entire plant with an abundance of water. The flame has been repaired and is now handling the water satisfactorily. Other improvements are being made and the plant generally is in better shape than for some time past. Judging from the vast number of improvements already made and the many new ones under construction, there does not seem to be anything in the various rumors that have recently been circulated that the works would soon be moved away from Clifton.—Era.

Professor Stabler announces that he will be at the Central school building, room 10, every day from 10 to 12 o'clock and from 7 to 9 o'clock to enroll pupils for the summer school. Both day and night classes will be organized. Pupils taking the sixth, seventh and eighth grade work can make a half grade in their regular school promotions. Miss Isabel Ward of the University of California will have charge of the Spanish classes.

A CHILD'S LAUGHTER
All the bells of heaven may ring,
All the birds of heaven may sing,
All the wells on earth may spring,
All the winds on earth may bring
All sweet sounds together;
Sweeter far than all things heard,
Hand of harper, tone of bird,
Sounds of woods at sundown stirred,
Welling water's winsome word,
Wind in warm, wan weather.
One thing yet there is that none
Hearing ere its chime be done,
Knows not well the sweetest one
Heard of man beneath the sun,
Hope din heaven hereafter;
Soft and strong and loud and light,
Very sound of very light
Heard from morning's rosiest height,
When the soul of all delight
Fills a child's clear laughter.
Golden bells of welcome rolled
Hours so blithe in tones so bold
As the radiant month of gold
Here that rings forth heaven.
If the golden-crested wren
Were a nightingale, why then,
Something seen and heard of men
Might be half as sweet as when
Laughs a child of seven.
A. C. Swinburne in Washington Post.
Van Wagener, next door to the post-office, does a general painting and paper hanging business. All work guaranteed.
The Troy-Manhattan Option
The option which the Troy-Manhattan Development company secured on the Troy-Manhattan mines, on condition that said company would expend a certain amount of money in developing said properties, expired on June 2, but an extension to July 1 was obtained. The bonding company now has a good force of miners at work on the Buckeye mine and the property is looking well and it is probable that ore shipments will be resumed within a few weeks. There is no doubt that the Troy-Manhattan property could be placed on a paying basis.—Florence Blade.
We Trust Not
What is so rare as a day in June?
Thus runs the saw.
I pray we need not change the tune
From rare to raw.
